Building a smarter system together

- Coordinating and prioritising whole-of-government investment
- Using evidence and data to monitor, evaluate and review services
- Prioritising the needs of children and families in designing packages of support to address their need

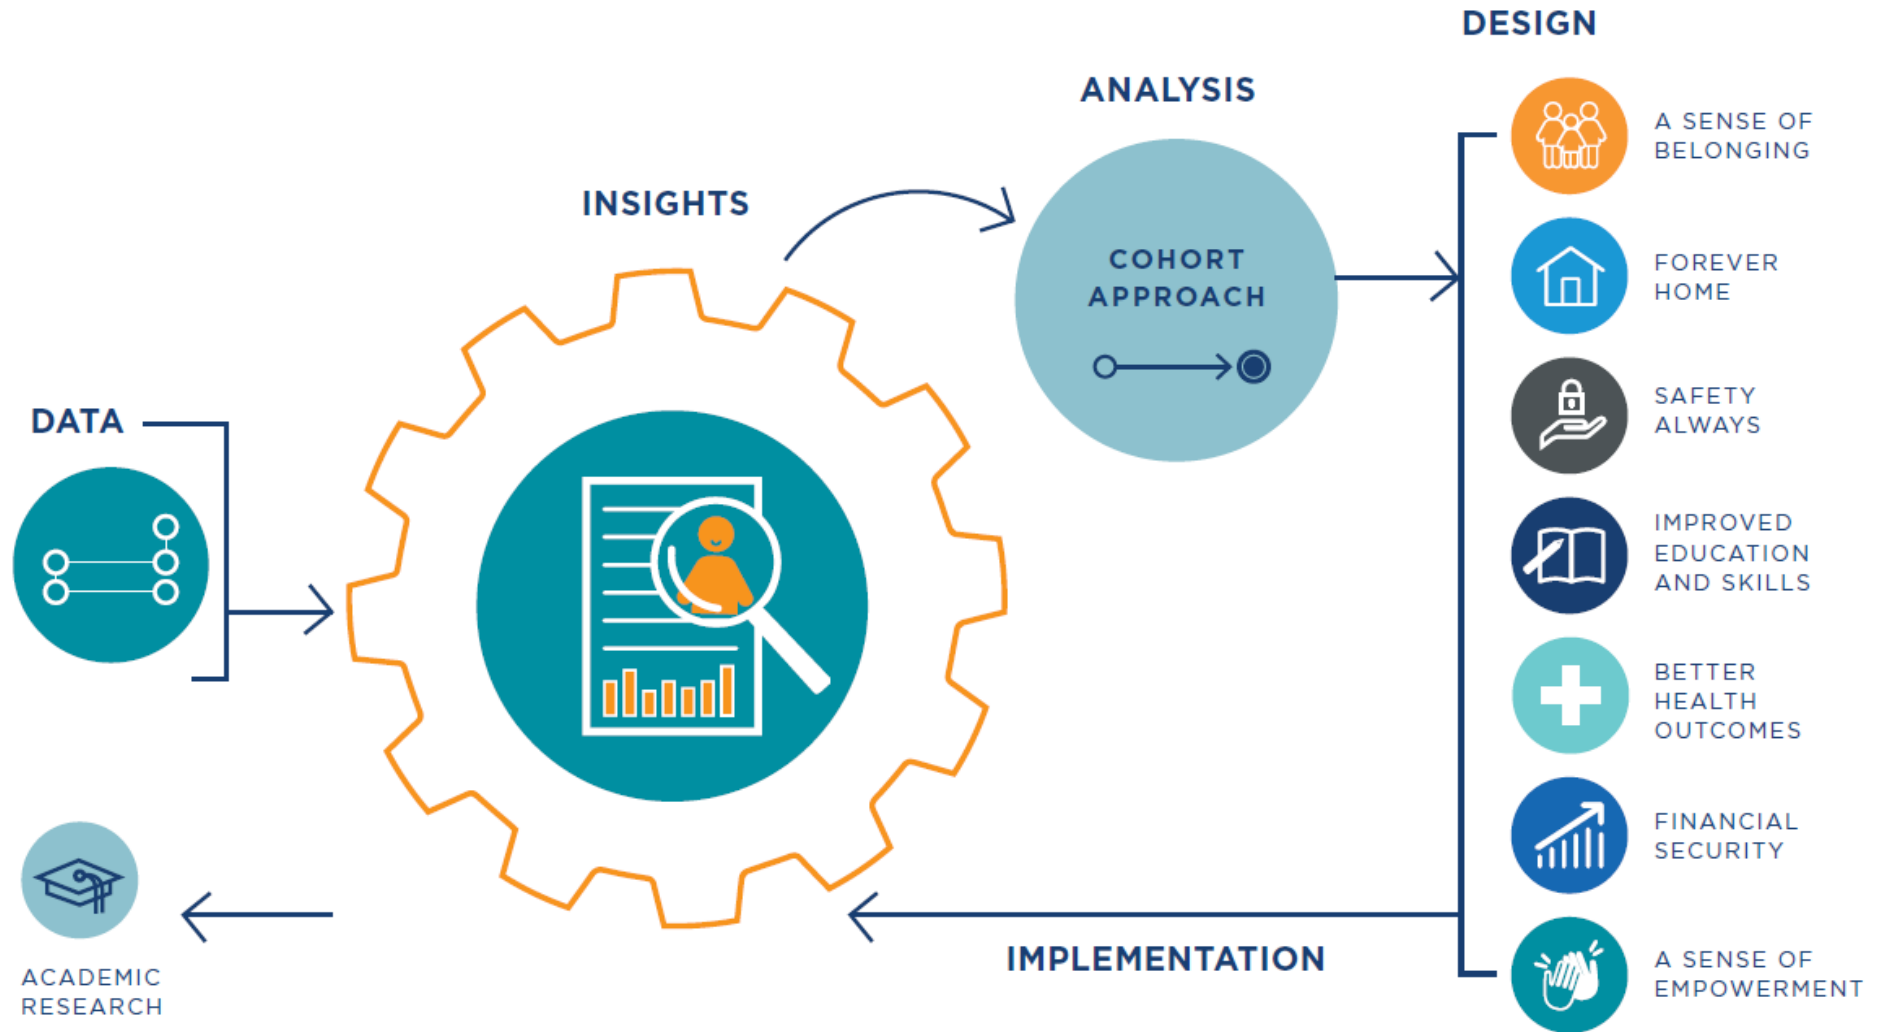

- Identify children and families with similar needs, characteristics and vulnerabilities
- Develop new or improved solutions which target areas of need and barriers to service interaction.

Cross-government data set

Planning for the future

Insights will be used to:

- Plan what resources are needed
- Understand and predict the level of demand
- Design holistic programs and targeted services where needed

Investing in outcomes

- Our approach places children and families at the centre
- It will improve the way we work with children and families, giving them a better experience and access to the services they need.
